Disneyland Ride in Uganda

March 2007 - Bakersfield, CA — Johnson Ogema, International Christian Ministries (ICM) staff man in Uganda, had a carload. Two fellow pastors and his wife Betty had gone with him to deliver Purpose Driven materials for ICM's upcoming weekend conference. Spirits were high and expectations energizing. As they traveled toward home on a two-lane road, all seemed well with the world. Johnson was paying close attention to his driving, while the others kept a joyous buzz of conversation going inside the car. He passed many trucks along the road, so at first sight the fuel tanker heading toward him was barely noticed. Then suddenly he realized it was drifting into his lane. Johnson flashed his headlights over and over as the truck headed straight at them.

Johnson writes, "God gave me a sound and stable mind. I did all I could to miss him, but he still knocked us from our rear indicator. Our vehicle tumbled, overturning twice. The truck driver, while speeding, had fallen asleep at the wheel. To my surprise, my experience riding Space Mountain at Disneyland helped me keep alert during the accident. I did not panic or lose my mind! In fact I remembered to turn off the engine as our car rolled-over the second time! What could have been a head on collision, turned into another opportunity for us to see God rescue us from tragedy. The Lord gave me a clear mind, sparing our lives.

Phone calls and emails have come from all around the world. "Over four hundred believers and nonbelievers reached out to our home to thank God with us," Johnson marvels. "We are recovering fast, and His grace is sufficient! Above all, the love of God through fellow believers has been our comfort.
